

Local Items.

Venor predicts one more hot wave. The Seils Bros. circus exhibits at Fulton, Sept. 12th.

There is some talk of starting a coffee plantation in Hickman county.

Miss Annie Keeler, of Cairo, is visiting Mr. Fred Kneers.

Miss Annie Nard, of Union City, was visiting friends here this week.

Henry's majority in this State was 41,800.

Mrs. Nora Fuqua is visiting Troy this week.

Mrs. Fr. Hellner and Mrs. Jas. Koger are visiting in Union City, this week.

A Postmaster is allowed to charge four cents for one stamped envelope or ten cents for three.

A deluded burglar recently made an attempt to break into the McCracken-county jail house.

Mrs. Chas. Hubbard, returned home Monday, from a several weeks stay at Hot Springs.

The heaviest rain fall ever known in Texas, six feet of water on plains where rain never fell before, was what Western Texas experienced last Saturday.

Sixty-four Hill of Georgia, who died last week, always kept a cigar in his mouth, this caused a cancer on the tongue, and the cancer killed him.

Rev. Mr. King, pastor of the Hickman Methodist church, has been absent this week conducting a revival meeting at Martin, Tenn.

The young people of Hickman, on joyed two dances at Brown's new hall last week. They praise the new hall highly.

Mrs. R. B. Brevard who has been on a visit of several weeks to her parents in Robertson county, Tenn., returned Tuesday.

Thomas Dillon, 2nd, had his hand injured by the derrick in handling some stone at Ramage's marble yard, last week. One finger had to be amputated.

The penalty for selling ardent spirits in Clinton is unusually severe—$350 fine and six months imprisonment for each offense.

We acknowledge the courtesy of an invitation to a Hop, to be given at the Court House in Troy, Tenn., on Thursday, Aug. 24, at the close of Prof. Seary's school.

Every Pump warranted to be effective and not to waste or spoil the water.

RICH & LOWE WOOD PUMP CO. Hickman, Ky.

Maj. Josiah Harris, Jr., announces himself as a candidate for Congress in the First district subject to the action of the Democratic party.

United States Senator Jackson, and other distinguished speakers, will address the people at Union City, Saturday, Sept. 2nd, and at Troy, on the Monday following.

Circuit Court convenes next Monday. The docket tonight, but we learn that there are several cases which will be extensively litigated and consume the full time of the court.

A hog with the hydrophobia entered a residence at Pottsburg, Boone county, running the inmates out of doors and demolishing the furniture. The animal was killed with an ax.

Capt. W. J. Turner, left Sunday morning last for New Albany, Indiana, where he will remain some time superintending the building of his new Hickman steamer.

Jos. Ambrose, Jr., formerly back-keeper on the steamer Hillman, and well known in this community, killed a man in Nashville, Monday last. It was considered by the examining court justifiable homicide.

The corn crop in Calloway county is in fine condition, bearing from two to six large ears to the stalk, while the tobacco is so large and fine and the acreage so great that the News says barn-room for its storage will be hard to find.

Miss Belle Fortune left Tuesday morning for Calloway county, Tenn., where she assumes charge of the Music Department of Calloway Female Seminary. It is probable she will be connected with Prof. Caldwell's school next season.

The ladies of the Methodist church gave their third supper this summer, Thursday night last, for the benefit of the building committee of their church, and met with good encouragement. There are noble ladies, and certainly will reap their reward.

The Paducah Board of Trade will endeavor to induce the C. O. and S. W. railroad to remove their shops to Paducah. They also are again agitating water-works, and this will be one of the inducements to draw the shops to that point.

The School trustees of the Hickman district have elected teachers for the fall session, commencing the 1st Monday in September, as follows:

E. W. Marry, principal.

Misses Adelle Allen and Mattie Ellison, assistants.

Mr. R. S. Murrell, the County Judge elect, is rusticated at Comb's springs a few weeks. He will assume the duties of his office the first of September, or as soon thereafter as his commission is received from the Governor. The new County Clerk, Mr. W. P. Taylor, enters upon the duty of his office the 1st Monday of September.

While little Charlie Voorhies, of Lexington, was hanging on behind a phonograph, his left foot slipped from the axle and caught between the spokes of the wheel. The leg was frightfully crushed, and had to be amputated above the knee.

The yellow fever is still raging at Matamorras, Mexico, and Brownsville, Texas, with fearful fury. Six cases reported at New Orleans and other southern points this week. It begins to look like the terrible scourge will be held in the present afflicted localities, and not spread further this season.

The High School.—The next session of Prof. Caldwell's High school commences Monday, Sept. 4th. The incoming session, Miss Mary Caldwell, will have charge of the female department of this year's experience. It is the purpose of these experienced educators to offer the people of Hickman and vicinity the opportunity of building up a first class institution of learning, such as may not be excelled in this section, and we certainly indulge the hope that this community will extend them a liberal support and encouragement. Hickman has been unfortunate in its school interests, and so many efforts to establish a first class institution have failed, that many friends of education have been discouraged. Let's drop differences, partialities and prejudice, and let each and every citizen work earnestly to build up and sustain Caldwell's High School. Every interest in Hickman is ahead of the school interest, and it is a shame that it is so. The mothers and fathers of this community should earnestly consider the question, and go to work earnestly and harmoniously.

Mrs. Carrie Mahoney proposes resuming teaching in East Hickman, the first Monday in September. She has taught here many years, and needs no commendation or introduction from us as an excellent teacher. The love which her pupils universally bear and the steadfast and anxious support which her patrons always extend, sufficiently attest her merit as a teacher.

There are seven prisoners in the county jail, awaiting trial before the circuit court next week.

One Spanner, white, house breaking, Shang McGehee, col., carrying concealed a deadly weapon.

Thad Lowry, col., robbery and burglary.

Ed Thomas, col., Ed Green, house breaking.

John Lowery, col., grand larceny.

Sam Thomas, col., striking with intent to kill.

John McGehee, col., carrying concealed a deadly weapon.

Some correspondents are disposed to compliment the Courier rather too highly as to supposed prosperity. It's a mistake. The Courier is yet paying dollars for dollar on demand, and for this much we are thankful. It may suit younger persons to boast of prosperity, &c., but the charge is a little ghastly to the Courier that has been buffeting the tide for 22 years.

Prof. Seary authorizes the announcement that he will be in Hickman next week to organize a Dancing Club.

Investigating the Gold Dust Disaster.

Westland, Mo., Aug. 23, 1882.

EDITOR HICKMAN COURIER: In reading your well appreciated paper, I find the report of the ill-fated steamer Gold Dust, which was certainly heartrending.

The question seems to arise that some is responsible for the explosion. I have waited for some one to come forward to answer engineer Powers' report. You are aware that I have had charge of boilers and engines for many years. I have learned and experienced that no boiler is safe unless it is properly cared for.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

My experience is that no boiler ever exploded that had its flues covered with scale. I think it impossible, no matter how great the steam pressure may be. It is true that too great pressure will cause some weak part to give way and leak steam and water. I am not disposed to condemn any one, except the one who had charge of boilers at the time of the explosion.

The crop failures at the East will work to the advantage of the West this year.

Gen. Ben. F. Butler has been nominated as the Greenback candidate for Governor of Massachusetts.

War and bad crops are disturbing the finances in England. The bank last week advanced the rate of interest to 4 per cent.

The Court of Appeals begins its next session on the first Monday in September, and the Superior Court the Monday following.

The new National Bank notes have been issued in the amount of $100,000,000. They will be issued in day or two by one of the Cincinnati banks.

An appeal is being made to every Catholic in the world to contribute 5 cents each toward a suitable monument to the memory of the late Pope Pius IX.

Senator Ben H. Hill, of Georgia, died at his home in Atlanta, on Wednesday morning. His fatal malady was cancer of the mouth from which he has been slowly dying for many months. He was one of Georgia's most distinguished orators, statesmen and lawyers, and one of the nation's great men.

The Legislature of Ky. in 1874 passed a local option law. Under this law over 400 districts, towns, or cities prohibited the sale of intoxicating liquors. The last Legislature passed 92 special laws, declaring the sale of spirituous liquors, malt liquors illegal within the limits of districts that had voted against the traffic.

Inquiries.

1. Are there any lands in your vicinity for sale?

2. What quality, and where located?

3. Are said lands cleared or wood land?

4. Do they contain minerals; if so, what kind?

5. Is there water power, and to what extent?

6. Are there schools and churches (what denomination) adjacent?

7. How near to railroads constructed, in course of construction, or contemplated?

8. What is the nature and attractiveness of your society?

9. How will new settlers be received?

Correspondent of the Hickman Courier, furnishing brief answers to any or all of the above questions will confer a favor upon many who are continually seeking such information from this office.

A Candidate Candidate.

WASHINGTON, August 12.—Hon. Oscar Turner, of the Paducah (Ky.) district, has gone to Mt. Desert, Me., where his family are summering. After a brief period there for rest and recreation he will go home and take the stump as an independent Democratic candidate for re-election, with a Republican and a regularly nominated Democratic candidate against him. Mr. Turner says he will have a lively fight, but that he cannot be beaten.

Another Railroad.

The Clinton Democrat says there is rumor in the County Clerk's office that a plan to place a mortgage upon the Paducah and Memphis division of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad to secure a loan of $500,000 with which to build the cut-off from the Tennessee river to Mayfield, and the extension from Paducah to some point on the Ohio river opposite Cairo, Illinois.

Another Prosperous Year.

Although the corn crop is not full we have a large surplus of wheat, rye, oats, grass, and clover, that, if harvesters excepted, are tolerably sure of another prosperous year. The harvest promises to be satisfactory. And the railroad, with a Republic and a regularly nominated Democratic candidate against him. Mr. Turner says he will have a lively fight, but that he cannot be beaten.

Hon. J. Proctor Knott, Col. Thos. L. Jones, and Gen. Bull are the only avowed candidates for Governor.—(Oscar Democrat.)

One train load of twenty cars and another of twenty-nine cars, loaded with iron and steel, came from San Francisco, via Kansas City, to Chicago, Detroit and other Western cities. The value of their contents extended up into the millions.

An old colored man, name Walter Evans, died last night at the poor house. The man claimed to be 120 years old, and could almost substantiate the claim by statements of occurrences, &c., of his young days he could hardly have acquired himself with but by personal observation. His personal appearance bore out his statement also to a great extent.—[Paducah News.]

Within the past two weeks several changes have been made of conductors on the Louisville and Nashville railroad. Two have been dropped and two promoted, and two for disobedience of orders.

The two dropped ones had a "racket," so it is said, of placing for sale in saloons and other places, tickets that had been used by travelers to local stations, but which they had failed to punch and were therefore O. K. This party was the go-between of the conductors and the saloonkeepers. This had been in operation for two years and was discovered only a few days ago.—[Louisville Ex.]

The Willard Hotel Property Sold and the Lottery an Impossibility.

(From the Cincinnati Post.)

The Louisville Post answers the question asked in the Saturday Post of last week, concerning the Willard Hotel lottery scheme as follows:

"What has become of the Willard Hotel lottery?" asked a Post reporter this morning of an attorney who has had a great deal to do with the litigation in which the property has been involved.

"It has fallen through, I suppose; at least the property has been sold, and there is nothing to be drawn in a lottery."

"Have you any idea how many tickets were ever sold?"

"I have not, but I am informed that the receipts have been entirely expended in advertising and other outlays incident to the drawing."

"Then persons who have bought tickets will not get back any of their money?"

"They will not, of course."

"Has everything connected with the lottery been free from fraud?"

"I think so, beyond a doubt. 'Tis true before and at the time the lottery was projected the hotel property was covered with mortgages, and, practically speaking, did not belong to Mr. Whips. Still the legal title was his, and if he could have raised enough money by the drawing to pay the incumbrances the creditors had no objection, and he could then have transferred the property. It was impossible to do this, but the proprietor was ever sanguine, and when he began selling tickets, I have no doubt he thought he could carry the scheme through."

"How is it that Mr. Whips is still running the hotel?"

"I don't know the terms under which he remains. The Callwells own nearly all of it though, and I suppose he has made some arrangements with them to continue in possession."

The Broken-Hearted.

George D. Prentice was, perhaps, better known as a wit, punster and political writer, but from his facile pen flowed also the sentimental and the beautiful. The following description has lost none of its freshness and beauty:

"About two years ago I took up my residence in a country village in the Eastern part of New England. Soon after my arrival I became acquainted with a young lady, apparently about seven or eight years of age. She had lost the idol of her heart's purest love, and the shadows of deep and holy memories were resting like the wing of death upon her fair brow."

I first met her in the presence of the minister. She was indeed a creature to be admired. Her brow was garlanded with young year's sweetest flowers, and her sunny tresses were hanging beautiful and low upon her bosom, and she moved through the crowd with such a floating, unearthly grace, that the bewildered gazer looked almost to see her fade away into the air like the creature of a pleasant dream. She smiled, but there was something in her smile which told me its mournful beauty was but the reflection of a tear, and her eyelids pressed heavily down, as if struggling to repress the tide of agony that was bursting up from her heart's urn. She looked as if she could have left the scene of festivity and gone out, bent double under the weight of her sorrow, and poured out her stricken soul in a gust of grief, till it mingled with the eternal fountain of purity and life.

I have lately heard that the young lady of whom I have spoken is dead. The close of her life was as sad as the night of the breeze that lingers for a time around a bed of withered roses and then dies away for very sweetness.

It cannot be the earth is man's only abiding place. It cannot be that our life is a bubble cast up by the ocean of eternity to float a moment upon the surface and then sink into nothingness and darkness forever; else why is it that the high and glorious aspirations which leap like angels from the temple of our hearts are forever wandering abroad unsatisfied. Why is it that the stars, which hold their festival around the midnight throne, are not set above our limited and limited faculties, and forever looking up with their unapproachable glory? And finally why is it that the forms of human beauty are presented to the view and taken from us, leaving the thousand streams of affection to flow back in Alpine torrents upon our hearts?

The Railroad Commission.

OFFICE STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION, FRANKFORT, KY., August 12, 1882.

Editor Courier.

The undersigned, Railroad Commissioners for the State of Kentucky, desire to call the attention of the public, and especially those immediately interested, through the columns of your valuable paper, to the fact that very shortly after their appointment and organization as a Board they issued a circular letter addressed to the public, calling their attention to the various questions one, two, three, and four of

THE ICKMAN COURIER

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY BY GEORGE WARREN
HICKMAN, KENTUCKY.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 25, 1883.

Short communications on public questions printed—but not responsible for sentiments or expressions of correspondents—except where we refuse to give name of author.

In Kentucky there is one drinking saloon to every 428 inhabitants.

The deficiency bill passed at the late session of Congress contains appropriations for refunding to States the expenses incurred in raising volunteers. Kentucky gets $30,211.

The Glasgow correspondent of the Courier Journal says that Hon. Thos. L. Jones is the unquestioned choice of Warren county for Governor.

Link up a gum stump, Jacob in the hollow, Henry in the Clerk's place, Fat as he can wallow.

Gen. P. W. Hardin announces himself a candidate for re-election to the office of Attorney General.

Mr. Louis Blackburn, a prominent colored man of Shelby county, announces himself a candidate for Governor of the State of Tennessee at the ensuing election.

The first ironclad railroad train ever used in war was used by the Confederate Government on the York River, against McClellan's troops.

A centipede fell into the pot in which a party of five campers were cooking their dinner, near Fort Worth, Tex., and the men were all poisoned.

McCracken was the only county in the Purchase that gave a majority for the school tax, and no section of the State needs its benefits more.

The side-wheel steamer Pilgrim, built at the Chester (Pa.) shipyard, has been launched. She is the largest side-wheel ever built, and cost $1,300,000.

In a mill pond in Union county, says the Local, half a dozen axolotls, a species of semi-aquatic, seal-like, which is a native of Mexico, were found. They were from four to six inches long, with tails like an eel, heads like a catfish's legs and claws like a lizard's.

Near Lawrenceburg, an elm tree, said to be the largest in the United States, is not in the world, is growing. It is 105 feet in diameter and 326 feet in circumference from tip to tip of its branches. The size of the trunk and height of the tree are not given.

The Greenback Messenger relates a sensational story, coming from Daviess county. The infant child of Basil Hoover was recently killed, as Mrs. Hoover alleged, by falling out of bed. Last Tuesday, however, the woman eloped with her husband's brother, Sam Hoover, and it is now charged that she killed the babe in paroxysm of an unbecoming flight with her paramour.

Postal statistics from the Postal Department show that the number of letters and postal cards dispatched and received in the domestic and international services per capita of population in the countries mentioned is as follows:

Britain, 87; United States, 25; Switzerland, 22; Netherlands, 17; Belgium, 16; Germany, 15; France, 15; or estimating upon the whole population, the per capita is stated as about three and a half.

The mysterious fever raging among the cows at Paducah is in regular epidemic form. The News says that while some people believe they are killed by eating refuse from the vinegar factories, others say they die from eating clover, and others—the latter no doubt more correctly than the rest—say they die from a fever something like murrain, which destroys their appetite at first, then so affects their throats that they can not drink. At first their heads droop, and then they get down, and once down they soon die.

Autopsy upon a cow says she was almost bloodless, and that her gutlet was filled with a substance which seemed to make it as hard as leather, while other symptoms of severe fever were visible.

Take the blankets off the Congressional steels and lap the drum for the start, and let the fastest horse win.

The Mississippi River commission have decided to use $700,000 from Cairo and New Madrid.

A Tennessee convict has just left the penitentiary after serving thirty-five years. He is seventy-five years old.

A Fayette county Equine, says the Transfer proposes to make it a chap for all couples wishing to enter Hyman's bonds, and the only charge for performing the ceremony will be a kiss from the bride. As he makes no distinction between whites and blacks in the announcement, we presume the fee will be the same in all cases.

Turner is a better, and a man who has defied the Democratic party. He is a political outlaw.

The Times is the Republican organ of this District, and is somewhat amusing to see what a stickler it is for Democratic party organization. If a majority of the Democrats of this District happen to be satisfied with Turner's democracy, why should this Republican organ be so distressed?

The District Committee has called a convention to nominate a candidate for Congress in this District to meet in Paducah, Oct. 3rd. The election occurs the first Tuesday in November. Wouldn't it have been wiser if the Committee had fixed Dec. 3rd as the day?

The Democratic Congressional Committee of this district met in Paducah last Tuesday and decided to call a convention, to meet in Paducah on Tuesday, October 3rd, to nominate a candidate for Congress. The mode of selecting delegates from the various counties will be left to the county committees.

The English have commenced an advance movement into Egypt, and severe skirmishing has been going on this week. If the Egyptian's risk a regular battle the war will soon be brought to a close, but they will probably keep a desultory guerrilla fighting for many months until one side or the other.

The Blackburn-Owens congressional contest in the Adams District is said to be a grand tactical display. The contestants are well matched in oratory, and regular organized companies with hands, &c., escort the champions from one appointment to another. The chances appear in favor of Blackburn, but Owens has a strong following. Owens, it is said, speaks, walks, and looks like Joe C. Breckinridge when he first made the race for congress in this District.

The District Convention.

The Democratic Congressional Committee has called a convention to meet in Paducah, Oct. 3rd, to nominate a candidate for Congress.

The action of the Committee in calling a convention takes the Democracy of this District by surprise.

There are two Democratic candidates, Col. Turner and Col. Jones, and the repeated contests in this District with only two Democratic candidates in the field, have demonstrated that there is no great danger that such a contest will bring about the election of a Republican.

Therefore it is safe to assume, that a fear of the election of a Republican will not prove an argument of sufficient force to attract the Democracy of this District to the nomination of the convention other than those who would vote for him with or without a convention.

We take it that the Committee is composed of true Democrats and honorable gentlemen, and that they acted for what they conceived to be the best interest of their party; and from this point we will follow the convention to the end, though they called the convention, not through fear of their failure to do so would result in the election of a Republican, but that they believed that the party organization could do best preserved, disciplined, and harmonized.

If it be a fact that the Democrats of this District can best be organized and elected by the calling of a convention at this time, then the action of the Committee was wise and proper.

The Convention, in all due respect, disavows from the Committee's conclusions. It is a fact, well known and undisputed, that the Democracy of this District splits in its action on the question of anti-convention and anti-convention.

And the anti-convention Democrats, numbering something like half the Democrats of voters of the District, are irreconcilable to party organization through the convention system; and this they have emphasized by their votes the past four years for Congress, each time with increased force. Therefore, it is, that we conclude that the Convention will not bring harmony, but upon the contrary that it will serve to arouse and re-awaken the old family feud of "convention or anti-convention; and that the choice of our next member of Congress may be made to hinge upon this useless issue instead of upon questions of importance affecting the substantial interests of the people.

There are those who feel that Col. Turner is running against the nominee at attempts to place the whole party at his beck and direction, and that it is their duty to resist the assertion of this one man power. These same Democrats if they could be made to feel that five to six thousand Democrats were conscientiously standing side by side with Turner on this issue, and that if Turner should retire, or die, this fight would be kept up by several thousand Democrats rallying on one other leader, would be willing to concede something to them as to their anti-convention convictions, whereas they would concede nothing to Turner.

We concede Turner's ability, and that he is a splendid campaigner, but the fact that several thousand Democrats who are voting for him are not mere puppets to be brought in or out by the mere wave of Turner's hand. Turner's offending, when fairly considered, consists in being the leader of this element of the party and drawing the prize offered to the successful candidate. It is almost impossible for us, the Unionists to keep all the abuse upon Jeff Davis, who happened to be the leader in the South, when there were so many thousands equally responsible for his being the leader, &c.

There are those of the intense convention element who will turn their backs on the Courier for this article, but we are determined to write our honest convictions or not write at all. We have no interest, no hope of reward or fear of punishment, no matter what element the party wins and we don't think the country at large has any idea at stake, no matter which element triumphs, so the successful candidate is honest and true. To such as would accuse us of encouraging "disorganization" or sympathizing with the "disorganizers," we direct attention to the fact that, the Hickman Courier, (with all its Turner proclivities), is the only paper in the first Congressional District that has made an open issue with Turner on a public question as to his record as a member of Congress; and that if his record, for two terms has been an unimpeachable one, and a proper one, it is not a matter of course that he should be elected to a third term, and that if he is not elected, it is not a matter of course that he should be elected to a third term.

1st. In seeing him fairly and squarely at the polls before the people.

2nd. By supporting a true democratic and equal Turner in character and ability.

3rd. By discussing questions of public importance before the people, and remitting these convention questions to the past.

A CONVENTION CALLED.

The Official Action of the Democratic Congressional Committee.

According to call of the Chairman, the Democratic Committee of this (the First Congressional District) met at the office of Col. T. L. Jones, in Paducah, August 15, 1883, at 3:30 o'clock P. M., to take action in regard to calling a Convention to name a candidate for Congress. Of the Committee were present the following members: T. C. Marshall, Chairman of Ballard county; S. N. Leonard, of Edgelyville; F. W. Darby, of Princeton; J. L. Hibbs, of Smithland; C. M. Vaughan, of Clinton; L. D. Hubbard, of Paducah; W. R. Travis, of Marshall county; W. D. Corbett, of Paducah, proxy for W. D. Corbett, of Trigg county; and A. Barnett, of Callaway, proxy for Tip Miller, of some county. Crittenden, Graves, and Fulton were absent.

Speeches were made on the subject of party organization, and it was almost unanimously agreed that this Courier do call either a Convention or Primary Election.

The following resolutions were then offered and adopted:

Resolved, That a Convention of the Democracy of the First District of Kentucky be called and is hereby called to meet in Paducah on Tuesday, the 3rd day of October, 1883, at 10 o'clock P. M., to nominate a candidate to represent the District in Congress, and to take the manner of selecting delegates to be determined by the Committee in the several counties constituting the said First District.

Resolved, That a copy of these proceedings be furnished the Paducah News for publication, and all other Democratic papers in the District be requested to copy the same.

T. C. MARSHALL, Chairman.
W. R. BOWELL, Sec'y.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Some Comments Upon the Approaching Contest in this District.

(From Clinton Democrat.)

Hon. Mat. McKinney, editor of the Clinton Telephone, took occasion some time ago to speak of Capt. Stone for Congress and said, in substance, that while Stone is a clever gentleman, he lacks the necessary ability to make an efficient Congressman. Somebody took occasion on the strength of this to give McKinney a scathing excoriation, saying all sorts of ugly things about him. He replied to this McKinney says that he had said that he would support Stone, but does say so now without equivocation. This late announcement does not surprise us much. In fact, we have been looking for it to come as soon as occasion offered. He has had a leaning towards Turner for some time and a very little push was necessary to land him square on that side. If he were not ready for the denunciation the personal assault of the "irresponsible nincompoop," he would have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

It seems from the meeting of the District Committee and the calling of a Congressional Convention, that an organization of this kind, would not have been sufficient to determine a matter of conviction. We regret to see such ability for good as is possessed by Mat. McKinney prostituted to the base purposes he seems to have devoted his, and trust that he shall have had time to cool off from his present position, and that he will be able to consider the matter, and lend his ability and influence to restore harmony in the Democratic party of the district.

Not his Deal.

"Are you truly sure that we are all happy and contented to go together, darling? Do you really believe that you can give up the world and its vanities and settle right down like a model husband should, love? You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.

"You will never wish to stay out all night with me, as they say, and I shall be sure you will not?" And two blue eyes gazed sweetly into his eyes.